For years, we had talked about doing a community service project as a company. The Home Builders Blitz was a perfect fit. It provided a team-building opportunity for our staff and a terrific benefit to our community. Our mission statement was updated in 2010 to add the words "service to mankind." We now feel completely aligned with Habitat for Humanity's mission.

—Brad VonGillern, president of Lueder Construction, Habitat for Humanity of Omaha (Nebraska) 2011 Builders Blitz partner

HBB sites in 2006 and 2008

Home Builders Blitz has built more than 700 affordable homes across the country, giving thousands of builders a positive experience and a renewed sense of community.

Homeowner Ashley Johnson shares in the emotion of her house dedication with guests. Ms. Johnson's house was built in partnerships with Olde South Homes. As part of the national Home Builders Blitz 2008, Chatham Habitat for Humanity, North Carolina, partnered with builders Frank Wiesner, CEO, Olde South Homes, and Jim Garman, CEO, Garman Homes, to build two houses.

Building Community

Home Builders Blitz 2012 is a partnership between Habitat for Humanity affiliates and the local building community to make sure more families have a chance to own a simple, decent house.

The 2012 Home Builders Blitz:

- Is endorsed by the National Association of Home Builders.
- Partners Habitat affiliates with professional builders to build affordable homes.
- Goal for 2012: build 250 homes in five days.

Habitat's role:

- Secure land for the build and manage site development.
- Provide house plans.
- Obtain permits for the homes.
- Provide fundraising publicity and marketing support.
- Select the homeowners based on Habitat's family selection criteria.

How you can help:

- Assist with planning and development.
- Get more local business partners and suppliers to participate.
- Be on site to provide expertise, coordination and labor to take a home from framing to completion.

PARTNERS FOR CHANGE

Every day, Habitat strives to build a world where everyone has a decent place to live. We ask for your help. Your support helps Habitat build stronger families, better communities, more hope.

Join us for five days and experience this change firsthand. Help build it in your community.
