Habitat for Humanity in Northern Ireland

Since 1994, Habitat for Humanity Northern Ireland's local work has focused on reconciliation and building strong, vibrant communities in which everyone can reach their full potential. More than 30,000 volunteers from across Northern Ireland have engaged in practical projects, locally and globally, which break down barriers and help build a shared future. Habitat NI also raises funds for the global mission, focusing support on long-term partnership programs which empower families to improve the place they call home.

The housing need in Northern Ireland

Housing affordability, empty homes, social exclusion and the legacy of conflict are key issues facing deprived communities and vulnerable people in Northern Ireland. Almost 40,000 people are on the social housing waiting list and more than 92 percent of social housing remains single identity. In poverty, division is absolute.

Building Strong Communities

Peace-building remains at the heart of the strategy locally. Habitat NI has developed innovative partnerships with other organizations to address key issues facing deprived communities and vulnerable groups. It brings to these partnerships 25 years' experience in community building, construction, and volunteer engagement to support community regeneration. Habitat NI partner with the Welcome Organisation to improve access to safe shelter and facilities for the homeless or those at risk of homelessness. Most recently, they refurbished crisis accommodation for homeless women at-risk.

Ethiopia Partnership

Habitat NI's international partnerships focus on strategic themes of peacebuilding, disaster response and mitigation, vulnerable groups and the impacts of urbanization. These partnerships support Habitat's every day work in Ethiopia, Malawi, Romania, India and Cambodia. The Ethiopia Partnership is Habitat NI's most significant international partnership. For 12 years, support from Northern Ireland has been transforming lives through small changes which make a world of difference; simple homes, clean water, proper toilets. Right now, the partnership supports Habitat Ethiopia's painstaking work in the slums of Addis Ababa, including home renovations and the installation of community water and sanitation facilities.

Habitat ReStores

Habitat ReStores deliver real impacts for the local community. The low-cost DIY stores sells donated new and used building supplies and home improvement materials at 50-75 percent of the normal retail price. As well as raising funds for our work, the stores enable local people to improve their homes for less, provides opportunities for volunteers from different abilities and backgrounds, and diverts tons of reusable waste from landfill.

Habitat ReStores have developed a number of key corporate partnerships. Companies such as QMAC Construction, Murdock Builders Merchants, Creagh Concrete, JP Corry and Weber Saint Gobain, ensure there is a steady stream of quality stock in the stores.

School and Youth Programs

In Northern Ireland, less than 7 percent of children attend integrated education. Every year Habitat NI's schools and youth programs provide meaningful opportunities for 500 young people to come together to explore social justice issues and develop new skills. Interactive workshops, working onsite and a fundraising challenge, encourage young people to become agents of change in their own community, helping build a shared future for all.

Churches

The powerful, prayerful support of many church partners has underpinned Habitat NI's work since 1994. In a place where religion so often divides, Habitat provides local and global opportunities to put faith in action and serve others as an individual, congregation or in partnership with other churches. As an inclusive organization, Habitat welcomes people of all faiths and none to engage in its mission.

Meet a Habitat volunteer

Volunteers are the hands, hearts and voices of Habitat's work. Over 5,000 volunteers from Northern Ireland have travelled through the Global Village program to support the work that goes on everyday beside communities in need. Alan Brown has travelled on Global Village trips from Poland to El Salvador. Motivated by these experiences, he is also a member of the special group of people who commit to support Habitat's work over the long-term by donating every month.

"During Global Village trips, I've seen the difference a small amount of money can make and how Habitat keeps the cost low while ensuring quality. Every bit helps. It is one thing to travel but the need is ongoing; 1.6 billion people do not have a decent place to call home. By giving a little every month I can support Habitat's ongoing work."
