

MISSION REBUILD

Join Habitat for Humanity's Mission Rebuild and help a community in need

Looking to engage your group in a short-term mission trip with hands-on build site activities? Habitat for Humanity International is partnering with churches, small groups, service clubs and other organizations to continue rebuilding a community in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, that was damaged by a tornado.

The city received a great deal of response immediately after the devastation in April 2011, but there is still a lot of work left to do. Your group can participate in Habitat for Humanity's Mission Rebuild program and help build homes and hope in Tuscaloosa.

The details

- This weekly, year-round program seeks groups of 10-30 participants who will arrive on Sunday, build Monday-Friday, and depart on Saturday.
- Teams will help construct new homes and do critical repairs on others.
- The cost is $500 per person, which includes materials and construction supervision, lodging and most meals. Groups must provide their own transportation to Tuscaloosa and throughout the week.
